

Weekly Tests - User guide

Trying to help candidates who have prepared for EQE 2020, we have developed a set of new questions, never published before, to help you assess the level of your knowledge.

It is a series of 10 weekly tests which should take less than 45 minutes a week, with random topics, that will go through all the main legal aspects of patent law needed for the exam.

Taking a test

You can access the test from the Weekly Tests page. Choose the one you want to take and click Start test. The questions will appear in order. If the validity period of a test expired, you will not be able to access it. It is important to answer each of the tests within the validity period in order to have access to all of the questions. You can also choose directly the question that you want to answer. Once you have answered it, the question will appear with a strike-through.

The screenshot shows the 'PRACTICE FOR EQE' website interface. On the left, there is a sidebar with a 'Topic' menu containing 'Free Examination Test', 'Weekly test 1', and 'Weekly test 2'. The main content area displays a 'Weekly test 1' modal window with a list of five questions: Q1 (European patent application EP2), Q2, Q3 (PCT application), Q4 (independent claim), and Q5 (statements). A 'START TEST' button is visible at the bottom right of this modal. To the right, another modal window titled 'Weekly test 1 (valid until 21/07/2020)' shows the same list of questions and an expiration date of 'Expired on 20/07/11 22:03'.

Answering questions

In order to give you more accurate feedback, we have developed an algorithm that considers more than simply checking whether your answer is correct or incorrect (which may be also based on luck). Therefore, it is extremely important to add the legal basis that you have used when you have decided on your answer. By adding at least 3 characters, a dropdown selection list will appear. Add all the legal basis that you have used. It is a valuable exercise when preparing for Paper D.

We also keep track of the time. Take the time that you need! In the end, you will find out what you have to do to finish in time during the real exam.

Submit your answer and go to the Next Question.

The declaration of withdrawal was received in time so that the non-publication is guaranteed.

Type to add legal basis:

- R. 47.1 EPC Form and content of the abstract
- R. 47.1 PCT Procedure
- R. 147.1 EPC Constitution, maintenance and preservation of files
- Art. 47.1 EPC Provisional budget
- Art. 47.1 PCT Time Limits

Results

You can access the results any time, but in order to have an overall view of the test, it is better to access it after you have answered the last question.

Since there is no public methodology for evaluating Paper D, the score offered is based on our experience as tutors. Nonetheless, we consider that our algorithm offers a fair evaluation of your knowledge.
